

Justify capital improvements, headcount, and more with the FMX Advanced Reporting module

When organizations experience financial strain, they frequently make cuts to their maintenance and operations departments. Which means that you can forget about hiring those new technicians or replacing that piece of equipment that is well past its service-life. When faced with this situation, facilities managers must either find a way to work with what they have or prove the cost-effectiveness of what they need.

Facilities management software like FMX can provide the information you need to:

- View where your team is excelling and where to focus energy for improvements
- View how your department is comparing to your KPIs
- Make data-driven decisions about equipment replacement
- Improve your department's capital forecasting
- Determine the amount of maintenance tasks your team can conceivably handle
- Calculate the cost and the increase of productivity that additional head count could bring
- Prepare for audits and budget planning

Benefits of FMX

- Easy to use
- Tailored to your needs
- Unlimited:
  - + Information storage
  - + Requesting and vendor users
  - + Lifetime customer support
- Accessible from anywhere on any internet-enabled device
- Import and export your data at any time

What customers are saying

“The reporting has probably been the greatest thing to ever happen, according to the corporate office. That has really improved our distribution of costs and accurately tracking our costs across the plant. It also helps us with capital projects. We can see how much money and time we’re spending on equipment and if you don’t have that data, it’s very difficult to justify capital projects.”

–Ken Ledbetter, Maintenance Manager
Bonnell Aluminum

What can you do with the FMX Reporting module?

View and interact with detailed, analytics dashboards: You can filter dashboards by a specific module, building, user, time range and more to get a more detailed view with a click of the mouse.

View labor, inventory, and other costs across your maintenance department:

- Grand-total cost of all maintenance activities
- Total labor cost and total inventory cost
- Total cost for work orders and total cost for PM tasks, broken down by each month
- Total cost by maintenance request type (e.g. cost of all heating-cooling requests) and by request status (e.g. the cost of all maintenance requests that are pending resolution)
- Labor cost by assigned user
- Total cost by building and room

View a comprehensive overview of your operations:

- Number of requests by status (e.g. the number of maintenance requests that are pending resolution)
- Number of requests by module (e.g. the number of maintenance requests or planned maintenance tasks)
- Number of requests by type (e.g. number of heating-cooling requests) and by building
- Trends of how many requests are created and completed each month

View a summary of your equipment maintenance:

- Average equipment maintenance cost
- Number and cost of work orders by equipment type (e.g. production equipment)
- Your top ten equipment items that incur the most cost
- Your top ten pieces of equipment that receive the most work orders and labor hours

View a summary of your team performance:

- Your team's average response time and average resolution time
- The total number of resolutions by each user, including a week-by-week breakdown
- The total number of labor hours by each user, including a week-by-week breakdown

Easily export reports and dashboards to pdf to print or email for weekly meetings, audits, and more.

Download and print FMX's daily maintenance report to show your team which work orders and planned maintenance tasks are due that day or are overdue.

Run reports based on custom fields.

View reports on schedule requests and facility-rental financials.
